

Tell Your Story:

Digital Storytelling
with Elementary Students

Elementary Technology Conference
Lancaster-Lebanon Intermediate Unit
Tuesday, December 9, 2014

Karen Ditzler
Instructional Technology Specialist
Capital Area Intermediate Unit
kditzler@caiu.org
Twitter: @kditzler

Tell me the facts and I learn.
Tell me the truth and I believe.
But tell me a story and it will live in my heart forever

~ Indian Proverb

sign in or register

comment

Mr. Bobblehead's New Gadget and the Valentine's Surprise

Here is the ice cream shop that sells ice cream for an affordable price. It is in the town of Googleberry. Unfortunately, nobody is buying any ice cream.

Collaborative Writing

Storybird

Progressive Story Project

Join us to create stories with students from around the world in grade K-8!

Sign Up Now

A shared writing experience for creating a progressive story.

What is shared
writing?
Find out more.

Check out last year's stories and Voicethreads using the links on the left side.

Instructions and Timeline

Contact Information:

Karen Ditzler

Instructional Technology Specialist

Capital Area Intermediate Unit, Engle, PA, USA

karenditzler@gmail.com

Skype/AOL/IChat/Google Talk: karenditzler

Twitter: @kditzler

<https://kditzlerteachersourcepage.wikispaces.com/>

Why use Digital Storytelling?

Motivation

Interactivity

Creativity

Authenticity

Collaboration

Student Choice

Get Feedback

Broaden your Audience

Read/Review Works of Others

Check for Understanding

Don't make the digital part of the storytelling an add-on!

Make it an integral part of the process!

Planning Process

Goals/Objectives

Timeframe

Introduce Tool(s)

Requirements/Rubrics

Share Examples

Teacher is the facilitator! Guide, assist and conduct periodic checks for progress.